

HST 389: Fall 2011

Performing History

Want a hands-on history class where you'll travel back in time to Greenwich Village, New York in 1913?

Live some history; enroll in this course today!

Interested upper division history AND non-history majors may enroll.

Non-history majors, write Dr. Tyson at atyson2@depaul.edu for more information (send her your student ID, email address, and full name).

What's this course about?

We'll learn about living history, war reenacting (and other types, too), museum theater, museum educational programming, and the art of live historical interpretation. Hands-on learning is at the heart of this class. Pending sufficient enrollment, we will journey back in time to play a history game over the course of the quarter called "Greenwich Village 1913: Suffrage, Labor, the New Woman."

<http://reacting.barnard.edu/greenwich-village-1913-suffrage-labor-and-new-woman>

I promise you, you have not experienced anything like this at DePaul before. For this game to run, we need several more students to enroll in the course; so sign up and spread the news! Non-history majors write: atyson2@depaul.edu for information on how to enroll.

We also may take a field trip or two.

